A View from the Bottom 2014-07-28 a view from the bottom offers a major critical reassessment of male effeminacy and its racialization in visual culture examining portrayals of asian and asian american men in hollywood cinema european art film gay pornography and experimental documentary nguyen tan hoang explores the cultural meanings that accrue to sexual positions he shows how cultural fantasies around the position of the sexual bottom overdetermine and refract the meanings of race gender sexuality and nationality in american culture in ways that both enable and constrain asian masculinity challenging the association of bottoming with passivity and abjection nguyen suggests ways of thinking about the bottom position that afford agency and pleasure a more capacious conception of bottomhood as a sexual position a social alliance an affective bond and an aesthetic form has the potential to destabilize sexual gender and racial norms suggesting an ethical mode of relation organized not around dominance and mastery but around the risk of vulnerability and shame thus reconceived bottomhood as a critical category creates new possibilities for arousal receptiveness and recognition and offers a new framework for analyzing sexual representations in cinema as well as understanding their relation to oppositional political projects

The Art of Being Governed 2017-11-28 an innovative look at how families in ming dynasty china negotiated military and political obligations to the state how did ordinary people in the ming dynasty 1368 1644 deal with the demands of the state in the art of being governed michael szonyi explores the myriad ways that families fulfilled their obligations to provide a soldier to the army the complex strategies they developed to manage their responsibilities suggest a new interpretation of an important period in china s history as well as a broader theory of politics using previously untapped sources including lineage genealogies and internal family documents szonyi examines how soldiers and their families living on china s southeast coast minimized the costs and maximized the benefits of meeting government demands for manpower families that had to provide a soldier for the army set up elaborate rules to ensure their obligation was fulfilled and to provide incentives for the soldier not to desert his post people in the system found ways to gain advantages for themselves and their families for example naval officers used the military s protection to engage in the very piracy and smuggling they were supposed to suppress szonyi demonstrates through firsthand accounts how subjects of the ming state operated in a space between defiance and compliance and how paying attention to this middle ground can help us better understand not only ming china but also other periods and places combining traditional scholarship with innovative fieldwork in the villages where descendants of ming subjects still live the art of being governed illustrates the ways that arrangements between communities and the state hundreds of years ago have consequences and relevance for how we look at diverse cultures and societies even today
